October 11th 2009: TWENTY-EIGHTH SUNDAY OF ORDINARY TIME

Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself

THE FORTY HOURS

The Sanctuary has now returned to normal after the grandeur of the Forty Hours. Yet all is not the same as it was. For the graces that were given to all who took part in those two days of adoration are still alive and, God willing, producing a rich crop in our lives as individuals and as a Parish. How wonderful it will be if everyone who came last week to worship Our Lord and to pray for the many intentions we have might find a deeper sense of wonder and gratitude and awe in the presence of the Blessed Sacrament from now on! How wonderful, too, if everyone could now receive the same Lord in Holy Communion with even greater reverence and thankfulness to Him!

BR. LEWIS'S ORDINATION TO THE DIACONATE

Friday this week is a very important occasion in Br. Lewis's life and in the life of the Oratory, when Br Lewis will be ordained deacon by Bishop Pargeter. Some of you may not know Br Lewis well yet, since he has spent most of the last few years studying in Rome. However, that will soon change, because Br. Lewis, as an ordained minister, will be spending more time in pastoral engagements.

The diaconate is the first of the three "grades" or stages of the Sacrament of Holy Orders. That means that a deacon shares in the graces of the Sacrament which is also received by priests and bishops. However, each of these three "stages" has its own particular character. The Bishop as a successor of the Apostles, has the "fullness of the priesthood". The Bishop has the authority to sanctify, teach and govern the church in communion with the other bishops gathered around the focal point of unity in the Church on earth, the Pope. Bishops therefore have the authority to celebrate all the sacraments and oversee the teaching of the faith throughout their jurisdiction. They alone have the power to ordain other men as bishops, priests and deacons. Priests share in this sacramental authority by the virtue of their own ordination, but in a more limited way. Priests are co-workers with the bishops especially in the governance and sanctification of the local units of the Church, the parishes. They have the most important of the sacramental powers of everyday Christian life: the celebration of the sacraments of reconciliation and, above all other, the Holy Eucharist. Which brings us to the Deacons, who are not ordained to priesthood, but, as the Second Vatican Council reminds us, "to ministry". Here is what the Council's Constitution on the Church, "Lumen Gentium" has to say about deacons:

"At a lower level of the hierarchy are to be found deacons, who receive the imposition of hands "not unto the priesthood, but unto the ministry". For, strengthened by sacramental grace they are dedicated to the People of God, in conjunction with the bishop and his body of priests, in the service of the liturgy, of the Gospel and of works of charity. It pertains to the office of a deacon, in so far as it may be assigned to him by the competent authority, to administer Baptism solemnly, to be custodian and distributor of the Eucharist, in the name of the Church, to assist at and bless marriages, to bring Viaticum to the dying, to read the sacred scriptures to the faithful, to instruct and exhort the people, to preside over the worship and the prayer of the faithful, to administer sacramentals, and to officiate at funeral and burial services. Dedicated to works of charity and functions of administration, deacons should recall the admonition of St. Polycarp: "Let them be merciful, and zealous, and let them walk according to the truth of the Lord, who became the servants of all."
